

Hello brothers and sisters, we hope September has gone well for you all. I apologize for the late update and short letter; we have been dealing with a flea infestation on top of the usual travel and school schedules. We have it under control currently, but please continue to pray for us.

School is going well; midterms are approaching quickly, and we are halfway through this quarter. The school will be attending the Spiritual Sword Lecturship in Chattanooga; last year was a wonderful experience, and we students are looking forward to it.

Savannah is doing well; she is getting more vocal (and more sassy!). She loves to sing church songs, pray, and read. She even says amen after a prayer! She is progressing quite well; she is a blessing to us.

Sierra is doing great. She currently has a slight cold but is getting over it. I am doing well, just trying to stay caught up with schoolwork. Please keep us in your prayers as we continue our search for a work.

Thank you for all of your prayers and support. We thank God for you always and remember you often in our prayers!

In Christian Love,

Nathan, Sierra, and Savannah Tate
